THE OUTLOOK CHEERING ALL OVER THE DISTRICT

Big Output By the Mary Bell--New Narrow Gauge Railroad Contemplated from Mexico to Matthews Mine.

A NEW RAILROAD PROJECTED.

We learn that a survey has been made and other steps taken for a railroad to run through the Frances mining district. As surveyed this road will tap the Illinois Central at a point about half a mile south of Mexico station, and run a westerly direction for three miles, ending for the present at the Matthews and Kentucky mines. From here, so we learn, a preliminary survey has been made to which point, if built, the road will doubtless eventually be extended. As at present contemplated the road will be a narrow gauge and will be built and owned principally by home talent and home capital. It has also been informed that the roads necessary to push the enterprise to a successful completion are bright, and if this be true we see nothing to prevent the enterprise from becoming "a go." Such a road would be of vast benefit to that portion of the mining district, in giving a cheap and all-year transportation service for the output of the mines and doubling that output during the twelve months. The mines would be more directly and favorably affected by this road would the Kentucky, Matthews, Paris, Hue, Asbridge, Tabor, Wheatcroft, Leeler and Tabb, all on the Tabb vein. The good people of Mexico somewhat wrought up over the loss of this road, as it would take their town the receipt and shipment of spar from the above-named mines on which it now holds practical monopoly.

Should this road be extended to the Riley, it would take in the Riley, Nancy Hanks and the Stearns clay mines. We all hope it will be built, but have been much on the railroad question. We will wait until we see something on this new road before we get off our hats to indulge in it.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Business in the mercantile, industrial world are all in enormous activity. Financial conditions are favorable to the continuation of trade, and the continuance of good business is helped by the extremely promising agricultural outlook. The great improvement in general business is illustrated by the huge demand for building materials and mixed merchandise. The record-breaking consumption of spar is a striking feature by itself and emphasizes the satisfactory state of affairs prevailing in that leading industry. Underlying conditions are regarded as peculiarly encouraging, and a generally prosperous year, therefore, is anticipated throughout this district.

The old Tabb mine, which in the green and solid days of spar mining in this district led the van, until at a distance of some 180 feet the excessive flow of water forced an abandonment of the shaft and which has been idle since, bids fair once more to become the chief of the corner. Superintendent Reed, of the Kentucky Fluor Spar Company, with his accustomed vim and resolution, has determined to conquer that stream of water and for that purpose has had installed at the Tabb some of the heaviest and most powerful machinery in the district. If Bro. Reed can't get ahead of the water with that machinery, the Tabb mine is a "goner."

The Matthews mine, recently opened on the Tabb vein, bids fair to become a fine producer. It starts in with a 12-foot breast of spar, with good prospects of the vein enlarging. Supt. Reed has just had completed at this mine decidedly the best and most perfectly constructed sluice-washer in the district. This mine is in charge of Mr. John Yandell, Jr., a very courteous young gentleman. Geo. Russell has charge of the machinery.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company are working night and day at the Memphis mines, and are getting out about fifteen tons of high grade fluor spar per day. Superintendent Reed is sinking a new shaft on the same vein and putting in timbers 12x14 and we understand he is bolting together with bolts, which is a new wrinkle in the mining business in this section.

The Marion Zinc company are working the Riley mines six days a week and are getting out some very rich mineral. Mr. Knight of Ft. Wayne,

President of the company, has been going out to the mines every day for the last week or ten days, and he is getting things around the mill and mines in fine shape.

The Pogue has sprung from its ashes and comes forth better, stronger than ever. They have now a daily output during the 24 hours of 40 or 50 tons. Supt. Fred Clement informs us that in drifting at the 150 foot level they had a 20-foot breast of ore and had not reached the rock walls.

The Miller company, capitalists of Evansville, are operating mines on Lead Hill. They are driving a rock tunnel through the side of the mountain to the bottom of their shaft, for the purpose of taking out the ore instead of hoisting it to the bottom of the shaft.

Mr. Tom Barker, the foreman of the Commodore mines was in town last Saturday; he tells us that the Commodore shaft gradually gets richer with lead and zinc the deeper they go.

The Keystone Mining company are working every day and have a very fine vein of lead and fluor spar, of which they are selling to the Kentucky Fluor Spar company.

The Mary Belle is the largest producer of fluor spar in the district, from 12 to 16 wagons hauling daily; Watkins and Drescher say they can put on 15 more.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company are building a new washer at the Matthews and New Yandell mines, which will be ready for operation in a few days.

The Columbia mill is operating night and day, and the bins are full of high grade concentrates, which will be hauled and shipped in a few days.

The Asbridge mine has been abandoned for the present on account of its insecurity, and its machinery is now installed at the Matthews mine.

Watkins and Drescher have built a new washer at the Mary Bell mines. They are washing about 30 tons of spar per day.

The Cave-in-Rock Mining company are fixing to pump water a mile and a half to their mill on Lead Hill.

An Old Marion Boy's Good Luck.

The many friends of Richard N. Dorr, formerly of this city, will be glad to know he was recently elected to the office of Register of Deeds in the city of Wichita, Kan., which is an important office and a good paying one. Dick is a worthy man and entirely deserving of the place he has won in the confidence of the people of his adopted city.

BULLETS FLEW,

And Congressman Pinckney and Capt. Brown Were Killed.

Hempstead, Texas, April 24.--Tonight while a mass meeting was in progress, looking to the calling of Rangers here to enforce the local option law and preserve the peace Capt. Brown and Rolling Brown started a shooting affray, and in a moment the guns were going all over the house. There has been very bad feeling for some time, growing out of the prohibition election, and in the words of one of the oldest citizens here, "hell broke loose" when the affair came to a "show down."

There are two dead, two others are sure to die, two others are wounded and their wounds are being attended to.

The streets are filled with armed men. Owing to the bad feeling and the partisanship which has been engendered, there may be more trouble.

The dead are Congressman James M. Pinckney, one of the Prohibition leaders, and Capt. Brown, who is alleged to have started the shooting to-night.

The fatally wounded are Tom Pinckney, a brother of the congressman, and John Mills, one of the Pinckney's friends.

Doc Thompkins and Rollin Brown a son of Capt. Brown, are at their homes, wounded, but how badly has not been determined.

A Catholic Colony.

Uniontown Telegram: One hundred thousand acres of land near Sikeston, Mo., has been purchased by a company, headed by Archbishop Glennon, of St. Louis, and it will be used to locate a colony of Catholics from New York and New Orleans.

Another 100,000 acres will probably be secured. The people will be colonized in villages upon the purchased land. The company has a capital stock of $1,000,000.

Death of Rev. Geo. M. Everitt.

Rev. Geo. M. Everitt, of Sebree, died very suddenly Monday morning at 2 o'clock at his home. He preached at his church as usual Sunday morning and appeared to be in the best of health. About 2 o'clock on Monday morning he called for his daughter to bring him a drink of water and expired before she reached his bed. He was a member of the Louisville conference and was regarded very highly as a minister. He was about sixty years of age. He formerly served as pastor at Hanson, leaving there about four years ago. The funeral services were held at Corydon, Tuesday, April 25, Presiding Elder Orr preaching the sermon. ---Madisonville Hustler.

TO SELECT NOMINEE.

SALEM, KY., April 14.--The Democratic committee of Livingston and Crittenden counties met here today and called a mass convention for May 20 at Salem, Livingston county, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for representative of Crittenden and Livingston counties.

There is only one announced candidate for the nomination, Hon. Thos. H. Cochran of Marion, Ky., and there will likely be no other candidate as it is Crittenden county's time to have the office.

Nature to Restore Leg.

Denver physicians are interested in Harry J. Myers, a printer. One of his legs, which was amputated in September, 1901, is literally growing back on being replaced by a new leg of flesh and bone at the rapid rate of near one half inch a week.

Myer's right leg was crushed in a wreck at Springfield, Mo., in 1899. It was not amputated at the time but had to be in 1901, to prevent blood poisoning. It was cut off three and a half inches below the knee. Within a week a half dozen reputable physicians have verified Myers' claim that the leg is growing.

A Kuttawa Marriage.

Mr. Horace D. Brasher and Miss Mary Nall, youngest daughter of Prof. J. J. Nall, were united in marriage at the home of the bride in Kuttawa Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The couple were given an elegant dinner, after which they left for Ohio. The bride is a sister of Mrs. John Robinson, of this city, and very popular throughout Lyon county. The groom is a young traveling man. ---Princeton Leader.

New Way of Paying an Account.

Recently a "young professional" had the PRESS to get out an elaborate programme for his use in his "tour." We heard of many of them being used. When we called on him to pay for them we received the following letter which shows that it was written by a brainy individual:

S. M. JENKINS:--You will find this "offless" currency value to you than you will expect. I fear. If your account does not conflict with mine you will get your money you return mail, otherwise it will not come."

And the money never has come. We are having a half-tone cut made and next week will let our readers see who he is.

Throws Girl From High Bridge.

Cincinnati, April 26.--Charles Finch was arrested late today charged with throwing Loretta Krekeler, aged nine years, from the Liberty street viaduct to the ground below, a distance of eighty-three feet. The girl is in a serious condition and expected to die at any moment. Finch was identified by both the girl and her six-year-old brother, who was a witness to the crime. When arrested Finch was stupefied with cocaine and a large box of the drug was found in his pocket.

According to the story of the boy, the children were on their way home from school this afternoon, when they were suddenly stopped by a man in the middle of the viaduct. The man grabbed at the boy's hat, and the girl told him not to touch it. The man then declared: "I'll throw you over the bridge," and seizing the girl, tossed her over the viaduct rail, and then escaped. He was later arrested near the scene of the crime. The girl was taken to her home in a dying condition.

FARM NOTES.

Shiftless farmers raise good mortgages.

How poor are those whose wealth is gossip.

Pointed thoughts are good points to work by.

You stay by the farm and the farm will stay by you.

Carrying out one good job often helps two more half way.

Get "ahead of the clock" by having system in your work.

Experience is a good school, but tuition fees are sometimes high.

To attempt to do all things at all times is to accomplish nothing.

Happy is the man who knows when to keep his eyes open and his mouth shut.

If you have a wife, take care of her; if you have none get one as soon as possible.

Agriculture, unlike any other business, flourishes best the more you run it into the ground.

Philosophy is a good thing to amuse yourself with, but a full potato bin and a well stocked smokehouse will make philosophy a deal more comforting.

EARLY PLANTINGS.

Attending to one's own business is a noble occupation.

Good for good roads. Legislatures have helped the movement; now let Uncle Sam chip in too. Congress must pass the Brownlow bill.

Thorough preparation of the soil pays every time. Yet no one job is more often so slovenly done, even by the best of farmers.

The farmer who does not keep up with the times fails to make the best of his farm. Think of the changes in farm economics during the past generation and consider where a farmer would be who used the old hand scythe and sickle, built rail fences, hewed timber for buildings and split shingles from the log.

The bill to exempt from taxes the shares of manufacturing and publishing corporations in Illinois is dead wrong. The legislature should kill it. Illinois newspapers have been silent about this, perhaps because it will save them some taxation. Land has to bear all taxes that other property avoids.—Farm and Home.

APPLY BUSINESS METHODS.

Co-operation is wonderful in its results only when properly conducted. Like other business co-operative effort rests on a three-legged stool—it requires not only capital, and labor or trade or custom, but even more than ordinary business does it require good management, or the right kind of administration. Break either one of the legs and the stool won't stand on the other two. But let all three legs be sound and nothing can knock the stool over. This explains the secret of the most successful co-operative enterprises, just as it accounts for the failures that now, as formerly mark the path of co-operative effort.

NOT IN OUR CLASS.

"I don't take no stock in farm papers; your Farm and Home don't know any more than the rest of 'em." It is useless to argue with this Indiana farmer. April and he was husking corn that had stood in the field all winter. His neighbors, who were thrifty and intelligent, who read and studied, had their plowing nearly done, mortgages paid, money at interest. "None so blind as those who will not see."

BEWARE!

Keep a sharp lookout for the spring crop of agents, fakirs and swindlers which begin to "work" the country with the advent of settled weather. Never take any article "on trial" and then sign a promissory note or an agreement as "an evidence of good faith." Such papers always turn up later at the bank, to be paid, with interest. While there are many reputable traveling salesmen, there are too many of the other kind, and the safest way to do, unless you know the value of an article, is to pass them by and trade with your local dealers and PRESS advertisers.

Before you begin spring work in earnest see that there is a good pile of fuel handy in the kitchen.

POLITICAL AND OTHERWISE.

On his return from his present outing in the Southwest President Roosevelt has been invited by that prominent Democratic organization, the Iroquois Club, to become its guest at its next anniversary banquet and has accepted the invitation. In referring to the matter Hon. Charles F. Gunther, President of the Club, remarked:

"The acceptance by President Roosevelt shows him to be a great and broad man, free from any partisanship. This action will make him famous throughout the United States."

"I am now waiting for official confirmation of the acceptance of the President. It will reach us by mail. When it comes we will immediately begin preparations to entertain him."

"The big majority received at the last election showed that many Democrats must have voted for him; that may be one of the reasons why he accepted the invitation. Theodore Roosevelt is a President of all the people, Democrats as well as Republicans. We want to do him all the honor we can, and therefore asked him to become our guest at the club's principal event."

It has been proposed to make the affair a grand non-partisan demonstration, which to the PRESS seems appropriate. It is a safe thing for the country when the rancor of blind partisanship is buried beneath the placid waters of fraternal good fellowship.

Joe Blackburn is at it again. This time it is a card to the public published by request in the Courier-Journal. In this card the Senator asserts that more than a year ago the "State machine," whatever that may be, had endeavored to buy his silence by offering him a free track in his race for the Senatorship. Joe says that for the salvation of the party in this State he "indignantly spurned" this offer and intends making unrelenting warfare on "the machine," "regardless of personal considerations. Poor Joe! In thy 'sere and yellow leaf' thou should not couch lance against a windmill.

During the trial of the Hargis Brothers and others at Lexington last week on the charge of subornation of murder, Mose Feltner, a witness for the prosecution, gave the following blood-curdling testimony:

"Mose B. Feltner, whose deposition, given at Winchester several weeks ago, created such a sensation at the time, was placed on the witness stand at the opening of the afternoon session and for the first time gave his testimony before a jury. During the latter part of May or the first of June, he said, he was in a conference with Jim Hargis, Alex. Hargis, Ed. Callahan, John Abner, and John Smith, during which the question of killing Cockrell was discussed. He said a suggestion was made by Alex. Hargis that Cockrell be killed first, but that Jim Hargis wanted James B. Marcum killed first. He said Alex Hargis said if Marcum was killed it would cause an uprising of the good people, as Marcum was a popular and well-known man."

Feltner and Callahan agreed with Jim Hargis and thought Marcum should be the first to be killed. Alex Hargis believed that if Cockrell were killed Marcum would leave the country. Jim Hargis remarked that he wanted Jim Marcum in his grave and that he must be killed. Witness said Alex Hargis talked to him the next day in the basement of a store, at which Alex Hargis devised a plan to kill Cockrell. Witness and Abner and Smith were to go to the Arlington hotel and get into a game of cards with Cockrell and the witness should withdraw from the game and shoot Cockrell.

W. P. Walton, of Lexington, Ky., has closed a deal for the purchase of the Kentucky Journal, morning Democratic daily at Frankfort, Ky. He took charge Monday last.

Glenn's Graphic: The Illinois Legislature has passed a law to prohibit shooting live pigeons in gun contests. Every State in the Union ought to have such a law. We can think of no sport that is more cruel and heartless than that of men and boys shooting at those birds merely to determine who is the best shot. We do not want to count as our best friend the man who can or will shed blood or take life only to gratify a desire to be regarded as a good shot.

The right of cities to work their jail sentence prisoners upon the streets has been definitely settled in the affirmative, in an opinion handed down by Judge Nann, of the Court of Appeals, which among other things says:

"The Court of Appeals holds that the ordinance in question relating to the working and care of prisoners as it existed in the third class city is void, but further states that the charter of cities of the second class gives the city the right to work its prisoners."

It is the most wonderful healing salve in the world. Beware of counterfeits. Sold by Woods & Orme, druggists.

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. C. B. Wainwright, of Lemon City, Fla., has written the manufacturers that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases of pains in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale by Woods & Orme, druggists.

S. S. Teachers' Training Class.

The last lesson occurred on Sunday, April 3; this one, on the Thursday following, April 6. He spent Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in Jerusalem, mainly in the temple. At night he returned to Bethany on the Mt. of Olives. On Monday was the second cleansing of the temple. Tuesday was a very busy day of teaching in the temple. He spoke five of his most important parables, recorded in Matt. chaps. 21, 22 and 25. He delivered six discourses, including the parables above referred to. He gave the seven withering woes against the Pharisees as recorded in the 23d ch. of Matt. Six conversations on important topics are recorded from this day's work. Wednesday, and possibly Thursday until afternoon, was spent in retirement at Bethany. Thursday afternoon they went to the upper room. The incident of the lesson occurred just before the Passover.

Telephone Change at Princeton.

An important change in the management of the East Tennessee Telephone business of this city has taken place, J. M. Templeman succeeding his brother, J. D. Templeman, who resigned to accept a better position with the company, either at Louisville or Chicago.

For several months the new manager has been connected with the office at this place, and so well has he looked after the business that he was in position to accept the place when tendered him with the utmost confidence that he could fill the position of manager. He is now in Nashville for the purpose of standing the examination required by the company, also posting up in the telephone business so as to be in a better position to serve the company's patrons.

There is no better or more business like young man in Princeton than Mit Templeton and the East Tennessee Telephone company and its patrons will be more than pleased with his manner of conducting the affairs of the office.

As to the old manager, Mr. J. D. Templeman, it would be hard to find one who has endeavored to please the general public with the very best telephone service possible. This is evidenced by the esteem in which he is held by the company.

Since his assuming the management of the company's business at this place, which was about three years ago, he has succeeded in placing phones nearly all over the county which now gives Princeton telephone connection with all the little towns of the county. It was largely due to his efforts that Fredonia was given an exchange office. He succeeded in extending the East Tennessee Telephone system to Marion, Salem and other towns in Crittenden and Livingston counties, and is therefore recognized as a telephone man who knows his business.--Leader.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Very Best.

"I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says Geo. L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated. For sale by Woods & Orme, druggists.

A Rabbit Story.

Washington Post: A private named Samuel Johnson in the Sixth Virginia Cavalry was so cross-eyed that it was said he could see a Yankee behind a tree, and when the sun was bright behind a barn. It was told that Sam supplied his mess with rabbits. He simply took a stick, walked through the fields and knocked the rabbits on the head, as the rabbits thought that Sam was not looking at them. The smell of roasted rabbits, baked rabbits, and fried rabbits pervaded the camp and so excited the envy of William Bluster that he took a stick and went out rabbit hunting. His companions soon saw him returning at a 2:40 gait and leaping a five rail fence. One of them said: "Bill what made you jump that fence? Are the Yanks after you?" "Fence?" replied Bill. "What fence? I went to get a rabbit and just as I was going to hit him on the head he gnashed his teeth and ran at me so savagely that I thought I had better come back to camp. And I done so. But I didn't see no fence."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce T. H. COCHRAN, of Marion, as a candidate for Representative from the counties of Crittenden and Livingston, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce CHARLES O. POGUE, of Frances, as a candidate for Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

On account of the failure of our gasoline engine to arrive in time we are late with the PRESS this week; but the delay was unavoidable.

The defense is now being heard in the case of the Hargis Brothers and others, in Lexington. Some damaging testimony has been introduced against the defendants, and unless this testimony can be successfully impeached it will doubtless go hard with them.

In commenting favorably on the article in the PRESS last week in regard to the State Senatorship the Princeton Leader says:

"The Leader will go the 'Press' one better by saying that Senator Maxwell 'not only sounds right but is right!'" Trot him out. Caldwell county is for him."

Some parties said after the fire Marion would not "come again." Parties who own property here think it will. Mrs. Frank Wheeler, before letting the contract for her 3 brick store rooms, to cost $9,000, complete, refused $7,000 for the lots, 70 feet frontage. The PRESS thinks she shows confidence by investing this $16,000 in Marion, and she is to be commended. Let others follow suit.

The question of municipal ownership of public transportation which cut so large a figure in the recent Chicago city election, resulting in an unprecedented majority favoring it and the election of Judge Dunne to the Mayoralty, will not be allowed to stand still by the progressive element behind it. The people of this country are becoming tired of being victimized by soulless corporations and trusts, and the result at Chicago is but the entering wedge which marks the beginning of their end.

OUR NEW OFFICE.

This week's issue of the Crittenden PRESS is printed on its own press, with its own type, and we are rather proud of the achievement. We saved nothing from the ruins of the old office except our books and private papers, and had to build up again from the very foundation. Everything in our present establishment is brand new, from keel to keelson, our type are all of the latest and most artistic patterns; our machinery the best that money could buy, and this combination has made the PRESS one of the handsomest and best equipped country printing offices in the State, which speaks for itself in the beautiful appearance of the present issue of our paper. Our entire outfit was furnished by the well known printers furnishing house of Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, of Chicago, partially assisted from the printers' warehouse of the Heybach-Busch Company, of Louisville. As will be seen, the face of the type with which this paper is printed have a clear, beautiful appearance, and all of our job and display type are fully in accord with it in taste and elegance.

Our machinery consists of a large Babcock "Reliance" newspaper press capable of printing four pages of the paper at one time. This will be driven by a four horse Fairbanks-Morse gasoline engine, assisted by a motor. To the press will be attached one of the latest style folding machine, the first ever introduced into Marion, capable of folding and delivering ready for the mailer 2,000 copies of the PRESS per hour.

In our Job department we have a 10x15 Chandler & Price jobber, the best press on the market, besides a 25 1-2 inch "Reliance" paper cutter and an unlimited supply of the latest faces of job and display type. In fine, we have the best equipped Job offices in this part of the State and are prepared to do the finest class of job work.

Our patrons and all others who feel so disposed, are cordially invited to call and see the new office.

J. C. Tipton, associate editor of the News at Middlesboro, Ky., was accidentally run over by a railroad train last week and killed.

The enthusiastic reception accorded President Roosevelt during his recent visit to Texas and other portions of the South and West must have been exceedingly gratifying to the Chief Magistrate of the Nation, albeit he must have known the homage was rendered as much to the office as to the man. However, Teddy is exceedingly popular in the Southwest, whose citizens admire his strenuous dash and vim.

WATERWORKS.

The old adage that "self-preservation is the first law of nature" is particularly applicable just at this time to the town of Marion. Time and time again has our city received warning of the absolute necessity for fire protection and time and time again has the warning gone unheeded, until now, when this last disastrous conflagration has finally aroused them to action.

It is a mistake to assert, as some do, that Marion is unable to support both a system of water-works and an Electric Light system. Marion has need of both and can support both. Who that has once tried them would be willing to discard the beautiful electric bulb, with its soft, dreamy light, and return to the uncouth, ill-smelling and offensive kerosene and coal oil lamp? Not one.

What Marion really needs is a system of water-works commensurate with her present needs and future possibilities. The city expects to grow and expand to more than double its present dimensions within the first half of the next decade, and in any system of water-works that may be suggested this fact must be taken into consideration, and any action taken in the present must also embrace in it provision for the future. By this we mean that no cheap, temporary makeshift to meet the requirements of the hour will serve the purpose of efficient fire protection; that scheme has been tried and has proven a dead failure, as witness its total inefficiency during the recent fire.

What this city needs, what it must have, is a first-class system of water-works, either with stand-pipe and the necessary street piping, with the necessary fire-plugs, or some other system producing a similar result, and which will supply a sufficiency of water for all the present and future needs of our city for years to come.

Such a system as water-works, coupled with a modern fire engine manned by a well organized fire department would not only prove a virtual protection of our city from the ravages of fire and greatly reduce insurance policies in price, besides furnishing our citizens with an abundance of pure and wholesome water for drinking and other useful purposes.

And Marion can afford to build such a system of water-works. Her safety from the fire-fiend calls for it. Her future growth and prosperity demands it. And it must come.

WANTED—An experienced young man to work in general store. Must be a hustler. Address, with reference, R. F. HURLY, Vice-Pres. Stinson Bros. D. G. Co., Mt. Vernon, Ind.

The desperate fight now being made for control of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York, is just now attracting the attention of insurance men in all parts of the country. The Equitable was originally founded by the father of James H. Hyde, present owner of a majority of the stock of the Company. At his death the elder Hyde left his interests in the hands of his friend Anderson in trust for his son James H., who was to be placed in possession at arriving at the age of thirty years. Young Hyde now asks the fulfillment of that trust, which Anderson refuses to concede. That is said to have been the original status of the case, but other important interests have become involved in it and the end no man can conjecture. In the meantime the interests of the stockholders are being properly looked after.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY ITEMS.

E. B. Dorroh, of Pinckneyville, was here Saturday. Mr. Dorroh and family will leave within a few days for Clay county, Ark., where they will make their home.

Capt. Hasse, of Salem, is mining for coal on the Willis Hodge farm, about four miles from Salem, towards Lola. The Captain reports prospects for coal as being flattering.

Mr. Q. B. Love, of Clarksville, Tenn., was in town the first of the week visiting relatives and friends. Quincy has a host of friends here who are always glad to welcome him to our midst.

Rev. W. C. Pierce, of Orlinda, Tenn., to whom a call was extended by the Baptist church of this place to become its pastor, declined to accept, and the church will now have to look elsewhere for a pastor.—Livingston Democrat.

In Memoriam.

May I hope the readers of the PRESS will bear with me in presenting in a brief way, a few things relative to the life and death of my precious daughter, Clara, wife of R. L. Wood. Clara was born March 31, 1880, died April 16, 1905. As a shining and cherished star in our family she remained twenty-five years and sixteen days. Her health has been very uncertain for a year, or more and our anxiety for her weal was wrought up to high tension, and when but a few months back her physician said, Clara has consumption, our strained hopes for her recovery were forced to give place to saddest expectations and eleven days before her departure she and we realized that her stay with us was speedily coming to an end. Those with us were sad and heavy days and hours, and on Sabbath evening about 5 o'clock it was apparent that her struggle for life would soon be over.

But I can not refrain at this point from open acknowledgment and expression of my thankfulness to our Father in Heaven for the gracious manifestation of his soul-supporting grace in this dark and trying hour; for so great and wonderfully glorious was his sustaining presence with us then that Clara's departure was scarcely realized as a death at all, but as a happy transition from earth, pain and sorrow to the brighter climes of Heaven. So resigned and composed was she in those last few moments that she repeated a former request of her husband to look well to the interest of their little one, Thelma, and remembering her two brothers, whose arrival from Arkansas was expected at any time. She said Tell Bob and John I would have been glad to have seen them. Then kissing husband, papa, Thelma and Grace, her younger sister, a loving goodbye, she bade all present farewell and told them to meet her in Heaven. Pausing a moment she said: "I'll soon see my friends over there, but I want to see Jesus first, then mother." Clara is not dead; she sweetly sleeps in Jesus.

From her seventeenth year Clara had been a believer in the saving grace of God in Christ, and a member of the Baptist church at Shady Grove.

Though Clara is gone and we are weeping, yet in the unfailing grace of God we are rejoicing in the consoling hope of seeing her again where death by chilling touch cannot again displace the rosy tint, by impressing his pearly glare upon youthful cheek and brow. No, no, Clara is not dead. Absent from the body, present with the Lord.

After appropriate divine services at Shady Grove cemetery, conducted by Bro. S. W. Tolley, her mortal form was placed beside her mother await the quickening power of the spirit in the resurrection morn.

By her father, in loving remembrance of Clara.

Easter Greeting.

The present never satisfied me well nor seemed of so little importance. I never felt more assured coming good, nor less inclination to speculate on its nature.

Easter girls learn to sing and to be glad. And the soul that is in the light of Easter morning, again that pledge of its immortality can but soar and sing, audibly triumphantly if it may, silently faltering if it must.

Easter is not simply a day to commemorate a past resurrection, but a day to realize a present resurrection. It is not alone a day in which to thank God that Christ rose, but a day in which to rise with him to higher life in our own souls and set forth with a deeper conviction to give the Christ ideal to society to the world.

Retirement, friend Jenkins, cures me from too much of the world's din. Thus I get leisure for building myself up in a recollected consciousness of God.

Gray hairs do not a patriarch make. Nor wrinkled brows a sage. In subtler ways we deftly take The finger-marks of age.

Ceasing to love! forgetting friends! When the warm heart turns cold. Then the recording angel bends And writes, "He's growing old."

WHAT THEY SAY.

Kind Words Sent Us by Appreciated Friends.

Carmi, Ill., April 10.---Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Marion, Ky., Dear Friend: Sorry to hear of your misfortune. Hope that you and all our friends were well insured, and that you will soon be in running order again.

Your friend,
RUFUS STINSON.

The Crittenden Press, which was one of the chief sufferers in the recent disastrous fire at Marion, is again in the field, and, like pure gold has come out of the flames even better than before.---Todd County Times.

Am pleased to see that you have got to business again after the fire, and trust that it will be of ultimate benefit to the town, for I have noticed that invariably after a town whose citizens are as progressive as yours, has had a fire, a new town has sprung up, which has been of a more imposing character than the old one.

Feeling sure that this will be the case in your instance, and with best wishes for success of your paper,

I am, respectfully,
W. F. KEATES,
Owensboro, Ky.

The Crittenden Press came out the week after the big fire in Marion, which destroyed its plant, in an eight page edition which deserves much credit for Editor Jenkins and his associates.---Lyon County Times.

The Press and Record both have shown enterprise and grit in issuing their papers before installing their new plants.---Princeton Chronicle.

Talk about your "phoenixes" rising out of the ashes, etc., but the Crittenden Press is the "real thing." In one week after the great fire in Marion had burned out nearly everything except Editor Jenkins and the devil, the Press appeared as cool and cheerful as if nothing had happened.---Farmers Home Journal.

We have just received the first issue of the Crittenden Press since the great Marion fire.

The entire plant of the Press was destroyed, but Editor S. M. Jenkins missed only one issue, and now comes out with a bright, up-to-date, paper, chock full of good things and well printed. But knowing Mr. Jenkins as we do, we are not surprised at the exhibition of push and enterprise shown in getting out so good a paper in so short a time.

We gladly welcome the bright face of the Press to our table again.---Tribune-Democrat.

The first copy of the Crittenden Press, published on its new outfit, reached us last week, and was in our opinion an improvement over the old Press. It will be remembered that the Press office was totally destroyed by the recent great fire at Marion. But the enterprising, hustling Editor, Mr. S. M. Jenkins, has purchased a new outfit and is again prepared to give the people a nicer and better paper than ever before. And in consideration of his great loss, his former patrons should rally to his support and help him regain what the fire took from him.---Livingston Democrat.

The Crittenden Press, edited by Mr. S. M. Jenkins, came out last week as usual, notwithstanding the entire plant had only the week before been entirely destroyed by the Marion fire. An order has been placed by Mr. Jenkins for a new plant and when the machinery, type, and other material is installed he will have a complete and up-to-date establishment. The publishers of both the Press and Record have shown commendable enterprise in bringing out their papers so soon after the destruction of their plants.---Morganfield Sun.

Although the fire which swept Marion, Ky., on March 28 reduced to ashes the office of the Crittenden Press, that newspaper was not the least daunted and its issue of last week was a credit to its editor, Mr. S. M. Jenkins. A temporary office has been secured, a brand new outfit purchased, and the Press appears bearing all the indications of the progressive journal it has always been.---Courier-Journal.

The Crittenden Press, dated April 6, the next week after the conflagration which destroyed almost the entire business portion of the hustling city of Marion, has reached us. This is a striking example of true and meritorious enterprise. Mr. S. M. Jenkins, the owner and proprietor of the Press, with the assistance of his foreman, Mr. Ellis Grissom, who is well known here, and in less than three days a part of the new machinery was on the ground ready to be put up, and in eight days after the greatest fire this section has ever experienced, the new machinery has been installed in the temporary headquarters and the paper issued in its regular eight-page form.

We doubt if this record has ever been excelled, and the Journal rejoices in giving cheers for the Press, one of the best and cleanest newspapers in the State.---Dixon Journal.

The Crittenden, Ky., Press again finds its way to our table after the fire, and while there is a material change in dress, it is just as newsy as ever, and carries the same broad spirit of progress that has always characterized this splendid county journal. The Crittenden Press suffered a loss of three thousand dollars, in the recent Marion fire, which destroyed wholly the two newspaper plants there; yet its live publisher in no wise discouraged by the sacrifice forced upon him is before the people again with a creditable front, and we trust his county will gather immediately unto him and partially reimburse the great loss sustained, and that the Press may again as of yore go weekly forth on its mission for good. It is the only paper in all the section that has in conjunction with our own paper, properly upheld and advanced the mining interests is the one on which this section must in future mostly rely, we trust the people will take care of their own interests, and this would mean a broader support by them now of our neighbor, the Crittenden Press, than ever before.---Hardin Ill., Era.

SALEM, KY., April 14, 1905.---Mr. Jenkins, Dear Friend: I am very sorry to hear of your great loss but the Press will build you up anew, for it is a treat to all of us old fellows.

As ever, a friend,
JOS. H. PAKE.

BOWLING GREEN, KY., April 18, 1905.---Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Dear Sir: I shall endeavor to chronicle a few lines to the kind old Press.

We arrived in Bowling Green Feb. 29th, took dinner, hustled around and that evening rented a house, moved to it that evening and stayed at home that night; was glad we had no aristocratic company though.

We are all pleased with our new home; am getting along splendidly in my work. Am now on the fast line in telegraphy.

Say, Mr. Jenkins, did you ever take a course in typewriting? Some one said "It is child's play." I can appropriate a better name than that. They teach the touch method up here and we are not allowed to look at our machines; so you can readily see it is no child's play.

This institution is doing a great work and Prof. H. H. Cherry is one of the best men that I ever saw, but don't let him know that I said so.

We had what they call rally day on last Thursday night. With 100 torches and as many flags we marched through the city with the Bowling Green Military Band in front of us, to the city park. There they played Dixie and several more appropriate pieces and the boys raised the college yell---Aker baker soda cracker zip zum ball. Cherry Brothers, Cherry Brothers, rall, rall, until it seemed as though a band of Comanche Indians had put in its appearance. Oh, we had a jolly good old time! We then marched back to college and listened to a most excellent lecture.

We had Prof. W. O. Winfrey with us one day last week and he kept the audience in a perfect state of hilarity with his Irish wit.

There is a good number of students here from Crittenden and adjoining counties. Mr. Clide Gilliland has just completed telegraphy and gone to Marion to see his parents before he takes a position.

Say, I forgot to tell you that I heard a man from Japan lecture the other night.

Wishing the choicest blessings on the Press I remain,

Yours truly,
F. F. DAVIS.

Ollie James for Governor.

Louisville, Ky., April 22.---Ollie James, Congressman from the First district, will make a strong bid for the next Democratic nomination for Governor, said a well-known politician from the First district and a former state official at Seelbach's hotel. "The gubernatorial bee has been buzzing around the big bonnet of James for some time and his friends claim he has consented to become a candidate after his next election to Congress. It's a long time off but his candidacy will bloom shortly," said his friend.

"James has always stood with the present State administration, and is still friendly with them, but when it comes to running for Governor he will cross lances with the present auditor, S. W. Hagar, who, it is alleged, is the choice of the machine for Governor."

"In the Senatorial race between Blackburn and Paynter James is passive. While most of his constituency are for the present Senator, James is not ready to break his alliance with the Beckham forces. He is the idol of the younger element of his party. On the stump he has no equal in the State. If he succeeds in getting the nomination, which, of course will require a hard fight, he will be almost certain of election, as he would carry the First district by 15,000. His closeness to Mr. Bryan and his popularity among the original silver element of the party will make him a formidable candidate against any Democrat in Kentucky."

Ferryman Shot.

A man by the name of Wm. Byrd who owns the ferry boat on Trade-water river at the mouth of Cypress, was shot and seriously wounded by Smith Childers, a neighbor, while crossing the stream in the boat Wednesday afternoon. The men had a quarrel over a settlement, Byrd claiming that Childers owed him one dollar for work and it is reported was advancing on Childers with a stick when the latter fired on him with a pistol, the ball passing through the bowels, producing what is feared will prove a mortal wound. It is reported that Childers picked him up and hauled him home and then left for Marion to give himself up to the authorities, claiming that he fired the shot in self-defense, saying that he had to either shoot, take a beating or jump overboard into the river.---Star-gis Herald.

Byrd has since died of his wound. Childers had his examining trial in this city last Saturday and was acquitted on the plea of self-defense.

railway of enlarged gauge can ian pyramid. With four or five locomotives and a system of ly arranged harbor locks an ar-cruiser could be hoisted on a platform and hauled away on an ordinary freight train would carry a little boat. The Isthmus of Tehuantepec could be crossed in that manner, and the trip via Panama avoided with a saving besides of a full thousand miles.

The Panama stockholders might spend a shipload of boodle to defeat the project but, aside from that there would be no formidable opposition.
Five hundred years ago Mohammed and finished it in a month and a half.

Finding the harbor of Constantinople blockaded in a manner that baffled the best tricks of his mariners, he covered a twelve mile stretch of hill trails with greased planks, put his armada on rollers and dragged it across, ordering his overseers to push the work night and day, and to cheer the teamsters with martial music.
The canal plan, withal, will have a fair trial. Venezuela may get a new lease of life when the tide of South American traffic rolls through the lower isthmus and the success of the enterprise will start a hundred inventors on the track of improved steam shovels and dredging machines.
The improper development of the brain till the end of the seventh year is appealed to as a fact that should prevent a child from being sent to school at an early age. The children of the poorer classes are, oftener than not, sent to school at the age of 3, when they should be living the freest possible life.
"A child's brain loves activity," said Dr. McDowell, "but it should work in its own way, not at the behest of taskmasters, who fix his attention for long periods and compel steady application. Dr. Jacob of New York, a recognized authority, has maintained that no child should begin its studies before it is 9 years of age.
Indications from some quarters are to the effect that the college students are likely to lead other parts of various Protestant bodies in actually getting together, without mention of sectarian lines. There is to be held in New York next fall a convention of representatives of no fewer than seventeen million members to see how closer union can be had on work common to all. But it seems likely that college students will lead their older brethren in getting together. This result is due to the activity of the Student Volunteer Movement, and will make common work possible at all summer conferences, and later on at all the universities. Organizations are to be wiped out, and it is said that partnership will be among all elements. The only body that may remain out, as heretofore, will be the Roman Catholics, although even among some of them the lines are less divisive than heretofore.
Japan long since copied European methods of warfare to excellent purpose. Today she is adopting the frivolities. Until recently jewelry, for instance, was tabooed, but now even gentlemen are often seen with a thick gold ring, made out of an old Japanese coin called "koban." The study of the introduction of a new custom is interesting. As to kissing it is rather a delicate subject to touch upon, but it can not be dismissed with a general statement that "in affection and love the Japanese are outwardly undemonstrative." All depends upon circumstances. Kissing as practiced in the west is still strange to them, but no one who knows about it would wonder if a young couple of modern Japan were to take to it to express their love.---

Expensive Divorce Suit.
Chicago, April 19.--It has been announced here that the suit for divorce which Mrs. Allen F. Black has brought against Harry S. Black, former President of the United States Realty and Construction Company of New York, has been settled by Mr.
Black allowing his wife $5,000,000 of their joint estate. The estate originally came from Mrs. Black's father, who was George A. Fuller, the founder of the George A. Fuller Construction Company.
Evidently Mrs. Black was satisfied with her hurried trip to Chicago. After a conference with her lawyer Mrs.
Black said she was going back East immediately.
"Yes, I am going back to New York at once; that is all that I will say," Mrs. Black said just before leaving her hotel.
"Is it true, Mrs. Black, that there has been a $6,000,000 settlement between Mr. Black and yourself?"
"There has. Then she added: "I shall say positively nothing at all about my affairs."
"It has been said that there is much about the reasons for your action that has not been made public."
"Nor will be," said Mrs. Black.
Then she reiterated her determination to say no word.

War of the Worlds.
Considerable of a sensation has been created through the publication of a book entitled "The War of the World," the author of which, Emil Shalk, betrays the future commercial warfare which is to be fought out to the bitter end. According to the story Russia will be the first to go under and she will be forced into bankruptcy while her rivals will continue to divide up the spoils. America and Germany will proceed to squeeze England until the final tussle for existence begins. The matter is finally ended by America succumbing to Germany's superior intelligence, organization and education, and in the closing chapter the commercial supremacy of the German empire is portrayed.

Collecting a Debt.
Hongkong Press: A shopkeeper medna Chan at Canton sued his debtors Chow and others at the Mandarin Yamen for a debt of a few thousand dollars.
Palm oil reached the Mandarin and the plaintiff not only lost his case but had to pay the defendant $1,500.
He determined not to pay. What did the defendants do? They hired and sent about a dozen women, both old and young, to his shop to eat and sleep there, of course at the expense of the plaintiff.
After standing this for a day or two the plaintiff hired six or seven lepers to stay in his shop. The women cleared out.

I Will Look Unto the Hills.
BY O. G. W.
Wondering about in the marshes
Of doubt, and distrust and despair,
Oh, lead me up to the highlands,
Where truth and intelligence are.
Fain would I climb to the mountains,
To atmosphere pure and more rare,
I could see through the truth of my being
And know I have God's loving care.
I'll not ask of the wisdom of man,
But go to the fountain of life,
Perchance in my chalice, though small.
Some drops of His wisdom may fall,
Untainted by folly and strife.
Easter.
Like a meteor large and bright,
Fell a golden sea of light
On the field of Christmas night
When the babe was born.
Then 'twas sepulcherd in gloom,
'Till above His holy tomb
Flashed its everlasting bloom,
Flowers of Easter morn!

The people of Marion should cheer up. Great calamities overtaken us to greater effort, develop our latent energies and show the kind of stuff we are made of. But for an accident in childhood by which I was seriously maimed I have thought that I should have been a worthless rake.

FLORIDA LETTER.

BARTOW, FLA., April 15, 1905.

Mr. Editor and Friends: I am twenty-five years old and have never written a letter to a newspaper, but as I am living in the sunny South I will try to tell my friends in Old Kentucky, something of Florida the land of flowers.

I left Fredonia, Ky., on the 17th day of January and reached my destination, Bartow, Fla., on the 19th of January.

I am well pleased with the country. We have beautiful weather and wages are good, from $1.25 to $5 a day and labor hard to get at that price. More help being needed just now to gather the crops, which are ready for shipment.

The main crops here are cabbage, beans, peas, beets, radishes and turnips, while watermelons and tomatoes are almost ready for market.

The orange crop is going to be late this year, and on account of the January freeze there will not be one half crop of them.

The State of Florida has 851 towns the population ranging from 18,429 to 15 inhabitants in the smallest, Bartow, the town in which I live, has 1983 inhabitants.

Well, I will close for this time and will probably write again after the rainy season is over. It begins the middle of May, and they tell me that it rains every day for three months.

If any one wants any information in regard to this country I will gladly answer their letters as best I can.

Respy yours,

Damage to fruit gardens, etc., by frost can not yet be even guessed at. It is likely a few warm days and a shower of rain may reveal considerable damage.

John Atwood failed to get home in time to see his sister Clara before she died, arriving only the last moment before she was placed in her grave. He will return in a few days to Fordyce, Ark.

New Enterprise.

The latest addition to the enterprises of our city is the formation of a company with a capital stock of $5,000, composed principally of local people, for the purpose of installing at once a modern plant for the manufacture of all kinds of drain tile and building and fire brick. The new company was organized last Wednesday evening and every share of the capital stock taken. A site will be decided upon in a few days and machinery ordered and active work begun. This is only a beginning of our new enterprises.---Sturgis Herald.
